He has been recognized by several Bank officers as having changed lillbary Bank notes, and a considerable amount was discoured at his house. Suspicion was at first excited by the fact that, previously poor, he suddenly had plenty of funds this command.

There is a better feeling in relation to American Stocks the other side of the water, and some speculative opera-tions have been made. tares of Pots will bring 4 374. The sales have been 150 to 200 bbls, at 4 31½ a 4 37½. Pearls are also dull, and 50 bbls have been taken for export at 5 25 a 5 314. The market has downward tendency.

COTTON.—The advices by the Britannia have given an

3,000 and 4,000 bales, at prices ranging from $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ per lb. advance on the quotations of yesterday. The purchases are believed to be mostly on speculation, although manufacturers have come into market to some extent. Holders are not pressing lots on the market. This has been one of the most active days in the Cotton market we have experienced for a long time.

FLOUR AND MEAL .- The market on the other side having undergone a farther decline, has had a corresponding effect here. Prices are entirely disarranged, and the market is all adrift. Last evening some holders, who had been demanding 4.871 for Genesce, made what sales they could at in small lots for immediate wants. There is some shipping to-day, but Genesee could not probably be sold over 4 623 to any extent. In Southern there have been some sales, but to any extent. In Southern there have been some sais, and the only one of which we learn the particulars was 500 bbls. Georgetown, a good brand, for the West Indies, at 5 12½—Georgetown, Howard-street and Richmond Country $5 a 5 12½; Brandywine 5 12½; City Mills 5 12½. Rye Flour continues dull, and sales are making at 2.75 a 2.87½ for North River. Sales 300 bbls. Jersey Meal at 2.87½; Brandywine is nominal at 2 932 a $3; hhds. 13 50, 4 mes. Shorts 62 a 7c not plenty. Sales 8,000 to 10,000 bushels Ship Stuffs at

GRAIN .- There is not much Wheat on the market, and we hear of no transactions. We quote 95 a 100c for a good article. Holders of Corn have been obliged to yield, and we notice sales about 7,000 bushels North River and Jersey at 56 a 57c, weight and measure; 2,500 do. New-Orleans, to arrive, at 56c, weight, delivered; 700 do. Ohio via Canal at 55c, weight; and 800 do. Maryland White at 55c, measure.

Rye is loofer, and sales have been made of 1,400 bushels at 64c, and 500 do. at 63c, delivered. Oats are plenty and dull: See River at 26 a 27c; Canal 28c for good.

HAY.—There have been sales of 400 to 500 bales for shiping at 42 a 44c. The stock is full.

NAVAL STORES.—The sales of North County Turpentine since our last report reach about 2,000 bbls. at 2 25 a 2 314. We hear of nothing doing in other descriptions.— Spirits Turpentine are quoted at 39 a 40c, cash and 4 mos.,

OIL .- The market is still advancing, and we notice sale

1,000 bbls. South Sea at 371c, half delivered at Sag Harbor. There is a fair demand for Linseed, and good American sells prime at a lower rate.

WHALEBONE.—The advices from the other side are avorable, and some holders have advanced their demands .-

t can be bought, however, at about previous prices. HEMP.—Within two or three days about 300 bales Am sia Clean at $185, 6 mos.

SEEDS.—The market is nearly cleared of Rough Flax for crushing at 9.50. We notice sales of 100 bbls, at that rate. Clover is as before quoted—7½ a 8½, with some demand. A sale of 40 bbls, reported Timothy was made at $16, and some very prime has sold as high as $17. The range is $14 a $17.

LEAD .- We have only to notice sales 200 pigs at $3 20.

SALT .- Ouondaga is held at $1 per bbl., with small sales. A cargo of Turks Island sold at 25c.

FISH.—Dry Cod is without farther increase of stock, and the sales are moderate at 275 a 2814. We notice farther sales 200 bbls. No. 1 Mackerel at 1075, leaving no Mackerel in first hands. The sales of other descriptions are only at

There is no difficulty at all in arriving at correct conclusions in reference to some things, when, at the same time, there are other things upon which a man can hardly make his mind to decide. The first will hold good in reference to Dr. Covert's Balm of Life, for diseases of the Lungs, Windpipe, and Dysp psia. If the community will examine the character of Dr. Covert's testimonials, they will not find it difficult to arrive at a correct estimate of its merit. His testimonials are from a class of medical centlemen, who would not hazard their reputation by lending their names and influence to an unworthy article. Some of them hold the most prominent professorships in medical colleges. Other testimonials are from clergy men of notoriety, whose veracity cannot be doubted by any who know them.

Land and Andrews, Ken and Hicks, Kettlewell and Spinckes, cannot be otherwise than acceptable to all who love those principles which they manimously tanght, and for the maintaining of which, (with the *xception of the good bishop of Wintor, whose lot was cast in tranquil times,) they suffered according to the measure which God required of each; to all who would fain follow them in the paths of self-denial, spirit ual-mindedness, meekness and obedience. That this book has been to past generations, what it is hoped it may likewise be to our own, is evident from the fact that it is one of the few of the devotional works of the seventeenth century, which continued to be in constant demand during the eighteenth. Its value was appreciated, and it continued to be reprinted from time to time to the middle of the last century; and it is presented to the public once more, with the auxious desire that as

Heads of Hair. BARRy's Ventilating and Go Heads of Hair,—Barry's Ventilating and Gos samer Invisible Wig so closely resembles the real head of hair that sceptics and connoisseurs have pronounced it the most perfect and extraordinary invention of the day. The great advantage of this novel and unique Wig is its being made without sewing or wearing, which causes its appearance so closely to resemble the natural hair both in lightness and natural appearance, as to defy detection, its texture being so beautiful, so porous and so free that in all cases of perspiration evaporation is unimpoded, and the great evils of all other Wigs entirely avoided. The sceptic and connoisseur are alike invited to inspect this novel and beautiful Wig and the peculiar method of fitting the head, at the sole inventor and manufacturer's, A. C. VALE COLLEGE LAW SCHOOL .- This I e-

YALE COLLEGE LAW SCHOOL.—This I epartment is under the direction of the Hon. DAVID DAGGETT, LLD., late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Connecticut, and Professor of Law; and the Hon. SAMUEL J. HITCHCOCK. LLD., Judge of the New-Haven City Court; and ISAAC H. TOWNSEND, Esq., Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

There are two courses of instruction and study in the School, one called the professional course, and the other called the general course. The object of the professional course is to give a thorough legal education to those gentlemen who propose to enter the Profession of Law. The design of the general course is, more particularly, to communicate appropriate information to those who wish to attend to Jurispuid-nce as a branch of liberal knowledge. A course with reference to Mercantile Law is introduced as often as any class requests it. Class requests it.
THE PROFESSIONAL COURSE.

I. THE PROFESSIONAL COURSE.

The students are required to peruse the most important elementary treatises, and are daily examined on the author they are reading, and receive at the same time explanations and illustrations of the subjects they are studying. The School is divided into three reading classes. Each class is daily employed upon a lesion in the Class Book, and is separately examined, and every student can read in one or more of the three classes, as he finds himself able and inclined to perform the requisite labor. Courses of Lectures are d-livered by the instructors, on all the titles and subjects of Common and Statute Law, and of Equity. Three exercises, consisting of Lectures and Examinations of one hour each, are daily given by the Instructors, and at all of them each of the pupils is permitted to attend. A moot court is held once a week or oftener, which employs the students in drawing pleadings, and investigating and arguing questions of law. The students oftener, which employs the students in drawing pleadings, and investicating and arguing questions of law. The students are called upon, from time to time, to draw declarations, pleadings, contracts, and other instruments connected with the practice of law, and to do the most important duties of an attorney's clerk. They are occasionally required to write disquisitions on some topic of law, and collect the authorities to support their opinions. The students are furnished with the use of the elementary books, and have access, at all times, to the College liberies and to a law library comprising events.

support their opinions. The students are furnished with the use of the elementary books, and have access, at all times, to the College libraties, and to a law library, comprising every important work, both ancient and modern. The law library contains the Revised Statutes, the Reports and the Digests of all the States in the Union.

The course of study occupies two year, allowing eight weeks reaction each year. The months of May and September are allotted for vacations. There is also a recess of about two weeks near the first of January in each year. The terms of tuition, with the constant use of text books, and ordinary use of the library, are as follows, payable in advance: For the whole course of two years, one hundred and fifty dollars. For one year, eighty dollars. For less than one year, ten dollars a month. For more than one year, and less than two years, seven dollars a month after the first year.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws will be conferred by the President and Feilows, on liberally educated students, who have been members of the Department eighteen months, and passed a satisfactory examination. Those not liberally educated, will be graduated upon similar conditions, after two years' membership; and members of the Bar after one years' membership subsequent to their admission to the Bar.

II. THE GENERAL COURSE.

This course consists of lectures and studies on the most important subjects of jurisprudence. It commences on the third Monday of October in each year, and continues six months, with two exercises each week. An additional course will be commenced at any other season, if a class of not less than twenty members shall be formed for the purpose. The additional course will be principally directed to Mercantile commenced at any other season, if a class of not less than twenty members shall be formed for the purpose. The additional course will either embrace the same exercises with the general course, or will be principally directed to Mercantile Law, as the class formed for the course shall prefer.

The terms are twenty dollars for the whole course, payable in advance; and sive dollars a month for any less time. The professional students will have the privilege of attending the general course, and also any additional course, at pleasure, without extra charge. New-Paven, Sept. 1st, 1343. 186 3ct.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.

CASE OF INFLAMMATION of the LUNGS
CURED BY SCHENCK's FULMONIC SYRUP.—
The subscriber hereby certifies that in the month of May last he was taken with a chill, which was succeeded by a hot, burning fever, headache, loss of appetite, constitution of the bowels, pain in my sade and chest, it ublesome cough, expectorated mucus streaked with blood, oppression in the chest, and some difficulty of breathing. I took some purgative medicine, but my fever continued; and after a few days my family physician was called in, who pronounced my case to be Inflammation of the Lungs. He gave me some medicine and applied a blister to my side, and attended me for several days. On the 15th of May, I commenced using Schenck's Pulms mic Syrup, after having been suverely ill for five days. At that time I had a bad cough, which was tight, and the expectoration, which was not very copious, consisted of a thin white mucus—my appetite was suspended—I felt tightness and oppression across my breast, pain in my side, headache, and, upon exerting my for the contraction of the contract was not very copious, consisted of a thin white mucus—my appetite was suspended—I felt tightness and oppression across my breast, pain in my side, headache, and, upon exerting my-self. I had considerable inward fever, which was manicated by the burning of the palms of my hands, slight thirst, and a general uneasy feeling throughout my system. I became very weak and feeble, and much reduced in flesh. After I had used the Syrup a week or ten days, it appeared to ripen my disease, and I expectorated a yellowish looking substance, resembling matter; and I would at times bring it up by the mouthful.—When this occurred, I feit relieves—the pain subsided, and my breathing became natural. I soon began to improve and continued to expectorate freely, except when it aubsided it would be loose again. About the 17th of June I was attacked with the Influenza, which held me severely, but after a few days I again recruited. I took no other medicine but the Syrup after I commenced using it, and it has completely regulated my bowels and promoted expectoration. Notwithstanding my unpleasant feeling and weakness, I continued to travel regularly from New Brunswick to New York and attend to my business. My friends would frequently remonstrate with me, and urge me to stay at home; but I kept using the Syrup regularly, and had, besides the Influenza, several attacks of cold; and after using the Syrup natif this time, I feel as if the disease is removed from my lungs, and I am able to attend to my business with the same feelings of pleasure as heretofore.
